

Questions & Answers on the usage of

Hasta La Vista, Ant!®

What is Hasta La Vista, Ant!?

A weather proof ant bait based on boric acid. This environmentally friendly product can be used both indoors and outdoors to control ants, cockroaches, silver fish, mole crickets and other crickets. It is labeled in both English and Spanish.

Why use a bait with boric acid?

Boric acid is environmentally friendly yet toxic to ants and other insects. It breaks down into boron which is a plant nutrient. The biggest advantage is that it doesn't kill the worker ant on contact as other baits do. The worker takes the boric acid bait back to the nest where it's converted into a liquid by the colony and then is fed to the larvae and queen, thereby eliminating the entire colony.

How do I use Hasta La Vista, Ant!?

For outdoor usage such as on lawn and ornamentals, spread 1-2 lbs. per 1,000 sq. ft. every 90 days. Around home and structures it can be spread outside as a perimeter bait 2-4 foot band around the structure. For inside usage, apply to areas inaccessible to pets and children at the rate of 4 lbs. per 1,000 sq. ft. For indoor ant mounds apply at _ - 1 oz. per mound.

How long does Hasta La Vista, Ant! Last?

Outdoors it will last about 90 days. Indoors where it is dry it will last indefinitely until the bait has been consumed. A good rule of thumb for outdoor usage in areas where ants are a problem is to bait every quarter (every 90 days).

What are the advantages of Hasta La Vista, Ant! over other ant baits?

- Kills the queen
- Long lasting
- Use both indoors and outdoors
- Breaks down into plant nutrient
- Environmentally friendly
